To compute the 2023 uninsured rate, HELP Minority Staff divided the KFF estimate of the number of uninsured people in each state by the U.S. Census’s estimate of state’s population. To compute the 2034 uninsured rate, staff added the KFF estimate of the increase in uninsured population per state, which used CBO estimates, to the 2023 uninsured population and divided by the KFF’s projected 2034 population, which uses data from the Weldon Cooper Center for Public Service. To compute the percent increase in uninsured population, staff divided the projected increases in uninsured population by the 2023 uninsured population.
